

Alumni Learn Of $147,000 Grant

The importance of Saint Joseph's alumni as part of the overall college community was stressed by Father Charles H. Banet, C.P.P.S., President of the College as he spoke to the Sixth Annual Summer Session of the Board of Directors and chapter presidents of the Alumni Association.

"One highlight of Saint Joseph's has always been its terrific community spirit," Father Banet said, "and this requires a continuation of the close communication between alumni, administration, faculty and students."

Father Banet went on to thank all the alumni for their "devoted and unselfish service to Saint Joseph's." Growth and advancement have been the chief earmarks of the college during the past year. Father Banet stressed that quality, not quantity, of education is the major concern of the College. "Faculty salaries and student scholarships have been increased so that we can continue raising the academic standards of the college and priority has been given those programs, such as plans for a new library, that will contribute most to an atmosphere of stimulated academic progress."

Administrative development has been typified in the increasing importance taken on by the laymen at Saint Joseph's, Father Banet said. "We now have six laymen on our Board of Control and have made a series of appointments on campus that increase the layman's role in the administration."

Recognizing the school's administrative progress, Saint Joseph's recently received a shot-in-the-arm from the U.S. Office of Education in the form of grants totalling $102,770 under Title III of the Higher Education Act of 1965. Three special projects, including a faculty institute for curriculum revision and a series of seminars for administrative improvements are supported by the grant.

Saint Joseph's was also one of thirty-one Indiana colleges and universities that were allocated monies for the national Defense Student Loan program for this school year. Saint Joseph's allocation totals $44,988.

Growth: Saint Joseph's College 1967

From the rubble of broken bricks, chipped blocks and other construction by-products is raised the largest resident hall on the Saint Joseph's College Campus. This Hall may be the first on campus coed dorm.

Growth has become a way of life here at Saint Joseph's College, as this Catholic liberal arts institution develops during its 78th year of instruction, in the face of record enrollment, the approaching completion of a new dormitory, a revamped calendar and a possibility of residential coeducation on campus for the 1968-69 school year.

Enrollment peaks have become an annual affair, as each September since 1962 has witnessed new all-time highs. This year's enrollment for Saint Joseph's is 1423 undergraduates. Saint Joseph's has been growing at an average rate of 50 students per year.

Saint Joseph's College has announced that residential coeducation for the campus has been approved by the school's Board of Control and is to become effective in September of 1968.

Saint Joseph's, originally an all-male institution, has been accepting female day students for more than ten years. Now for the first time in college history, the way is clear for female students to reside on campus.

Increased numbers of students require adequate housing, and Saint Joseph's has not been without growth in this area. Much of the housing need will be remedied by the start of the second semester when the largest dormitory on campus becomes ready for partial occupancy. Currently the largest of the 13 on-campus dorms house 120 students, but the new building, located near the south edge of the campus, will hold 252. One wing of the new dorm is slated for occupancy by January, while projected estimates set planned completion of the entire building for next April.

Also during the past year, Saint Joseph's distinguished itself through a series of bold, innovative academic steps. Among these are the freshman-sophomore pilot honors program, the change in the '67-68 school year calendar that creates a "free month" next January.

1st SJC Business Career Day

The first annual Business Department Career Day for alumni and Saint Joseph's students interested in the business field was held October 12, 1967 at Saint Joseph's College. Twenty-five alumni from business talked to the students on different career opportunities. The day's program was divided into 5 panels: finance, management, marketing, law school-grad school and lecture for underclassmen. The idea behind this business department career day, and for asking the alumni to return to campus, was for the students to gain first hand experience from alumni in the various areas of business.

Dear Jerry,

This letter is to inform you and the alumni of Saint Joe, that Raymond Edwards, Class of '59 and '60 passed away. Ray was afflicted with Multiple Sclerosis for more than a year. He suffered considerably before the good Lord decided to take him to his rest.

Ray leaves his wife Donna and one year old daughter Laura. Donna has asked that all those who contributed to their financial needs during Ray's illness be thanked for their kindness and generosity. All funds were used to pay for hospital and doctor bills.

Please pray for the repose of his soul.

Sincerely,
Joe Gurgone '59

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Saint Joseph's College Alumni,

Since I have been elected to the position of President of our Association I would like to have an article in each issue of CONTACT, our Alumni Newspaper. I hope I will have plenty of help in writing this column. Help will be obtained when I can have you write to the President of the Alumni Association in care of the Alumni Office, Saint Joseph's College. Your letters can be in the tone of what we may do as alumni; to assist Saint Joseph's College in having the distinction of graduating well educated Catholic gentlemen who can become outstanding leaders in their respective fields, and a credit, not only to their families but to Saint Joseph's College, their Alma Mater.

Also I would like to hear from you about how we as an association can be of help to you as an individual. In fact, I would love to hear from you about anything.

Just for the record, I would like to say my association with Saint Joseph's College ever since I began as a freshman in 1939, has been very close.

I hope we can develop a strong tie between all who had the good fortune of attending Saint Joseph's, be it the Academy, Junior College, or Senior College. Today our Alumni Association is over 7000 and the majority of these are members who graduated after 1950. We have several ideas we wish to develop as a project in the near future for the members of the association. As progress develops on these projects, you will be advised. Until it is time for my next letter, I am signing off and looking forward to hearing from you.

BOB CONLEY

The most recent members of the Saint Joseph's College Alumni Board of Directors took office at the Board's Sixth Annual Summer Session late this summer.

Dulin, '57, First Lay Principal

"I don't know whether they got the right man or not."

Thus Joseph Dulin '57 expressed his surprise upon being appointed one of two men to serve as the first lay principals of Catholic High Schools in the Archdiocese of Detroit. Dulin is the principal of the newly consolidated St. Martin de Porres High School in Detroit, a combination of Parishes on Detroit's West Side.

Dulin, now 32 and father of three, first won national fame when newspapers and national magazine carried the story of his becoming the first Negro coach in the all-white rural town of West Point, Iowa. He remained there for six years and turned out the best victory record in 20 years.

After leaving West Point, Dulin went to Detroit where he was a summer school project co-ordinator at Danison elementary school and also taught at a number of other elementary schools before getting the position at Saint Martin.

Dulin's philosophy is integration and flexibility, and when hiring teachers he looks for qualifications; dedication to Christian principles. Dulin insists that students adhere to these same high standards. Consequently all boys must wear ties, with girls following normally accepted standards of modest dress.

Said a West Point publisher of Dulin, "He's a remarkable man and a fine influence on the students."

Despite the high demands which he makes of his students, his respect among them is equal to that of his peers. The esteem in which he is held by everyone is probably best attested in the words of one of his pupils:

"You're the swingingest principal I've ever seen."

2nd D. S. A. To Psyche Dept.

The Dr. Norman M. Beatty Memorial Hospital Distinguished Service Award was won for the second consecutive year by the Department of Psychology and its students at Saint Joseph's College, as announced by Dr. James A. Kenny, Chairman of the Department. In contrast to last year when a single award was presented, two 1966-67 Distinguished Service Awards were granted, one to the students and one to Dr. Kenny.

The citations state, "in grateful acknowledgement of outstanding public service." The students' work at the hospital was facilitated by Robert Lange, Director of Volunteer Services there. Their service, Dr. Kenny adds, proved a great help to the relatively small staff at Beatty Hospital, which is given the responsibility of more than 2500 patients.

"The Department of Psychology and its students are deeply grateful to Beatty Memorial Hospital for these honors," Dr. Kenny said. Probably the greatest single value of these Department of Psychology programs, he further adds, "is that it shows the patients that other human beings truly do care—that they are truly human. This, combined with a spirit of service, makes it a wholly tremendous experience we hope to continue indefinitely."

Students To Europe During January

Father Donald F. Shea, C.P.P.S., Chairman of Saint Joseph's Department of History, has announced an 18-day European tour of independent study for next January that will take enterprising students to London, Paris, Zurich, Rome and Madrid.

The Department of Speech is planning a 15-day theatrical tour in Ireland and England.

Students can gain three hours of academic credit for independent study through the tour, added tuition charge will be included in the second semester class load of 17 hours. A research paper, appropriate to the student's major, will be written during the spring semester.

Father Donald Ballmann, C.P.P.S., Academic Dean, encouraged faculty members "to make this next January a profitable month, a time for academic experiment and study that will prove beneficial to your students and yourself."

Stang, '50, Man Of The Year

"It was all quite a thrill."

These were the words of James Stang ('50) upon learning that he had been chosen "Catholic Man of the Year" by the Ohio Knights of Columbus. The award, a 17-inch bronze statue of Christopher Columbus, was presented at the state deputy's banquet in Cincinnati on May 27 of this year.

Jim, past president and director of the Saint Joseph's College Alumni Association, and now a real estate broker in Dayton, was nominated for the award by the Marian Chapter K. of C. of which he is a former Grand Knight.

Besides his K. of C. work, Jim is a director of the Dayton Area Board of Realtors, president of the Dayton Brunnerdale Parents Guild, vice chairman of his Assumption parish council, and an active participant in local Boy Scout activities.

Jim and his wife Carmelita, both Fellows of the College, are the parents of seven children, two of whom are currently attending Brunnerdale Seminary in Canton, Ohio. His oldest son Bill, plans to enter Saint Joseph's in 1968. He would be the fourth member of the Stang family to attend the school. Jim's father was one of Saint Joseph's earliest students, and his brother Tom, now a Precious Blood priest graduated from the school in 1957.

1942 Class 25 Year Reunion

The 1942 class returned for their 25th Silver Anniversary, September 16, 1967. The twenty-five year grads were the honored guests at the Saint Joseph's, Western Kentucky University football game. After the game they entertained at a cocktail party and dinner in the Halleck Student Center. The dinner was hosted by Robert Conley, President of the Alumni Association and Father Banet, President of Saint Joseph's College. Special guests for the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dienhart of Purdue University, a former Puma coach. The 1942 Alumni that attended the reunion were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Parker, Mauri Gutsell, Mr. and Mrs. Thad Wielinski, Mr. and Mrs. James Iakovic, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Fleming, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bausman, Mr. and Mrs. John Singletary, Doctor and Mrs. Stanley Krol, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hankish, Father Ray Cera, C.P.P.S., Doctor and Mrs. Joseph Toth, Doctor and Mrs. Frank Benchik, and Capt. John J. Fehrenbacher.

I. C. C. Upset Of The Year; Pumas Topple Ball State, 7-2

"When the going gets rough, the rough get going."

The 1967-68 football Pumas don't claim to have originated the aphorism, but they have given a practical demonstration of its real meaning.

Despite the loss of key offensive stalwarts, Jim Taggart and J. D. Graham, to pre-season injuries, optimism ran high as the team prepared for its opener with the powerful Hilltoppers of Western Kentucky. First-year coach Bill Jennings had his men well prepared, but the Kentuckians proved too strong as they swamped the Pumas 42-6. Lack of a consistent offense was again the key factor as the team lost its next four games.

As if five straight losses weren't enough, Jim Dundas, Joe Mercado, and Bob Cummings were injured in an automobile accident after the loss to Wheaton. Campus pessimists were predicting that Coach Jennings was doomed to a winless first season. They were wrong.

The first victim was arch-rival Valparaiso U. On a cold, windy day in Valparaiso, the Pumas put together a potent offense, maintained their stalwart defense, and rolled over the stunned Crusaders 34-0. Especially impressive were end Milt Payton, quarterback Fred Bucina, and fullback Karl Maio on offense. Defensive accolades went to Dave Shafbauer, Paul Kiffner, and George Badke.

Homecoming Weekend was cold and gloomy the following weekend as the Pumas faced revenge-minded Evansville. The Aces were beaten by the Pumas at their own Homecoming a year ago, and were looking forward to turning the tables. Coach Jennings' boys saw things differ-ently, however, as the defense limited the Aces to one field goal in pulling off their second consecutive upset, 7-3. Joe Mercado, despite a leg injury incurred in the automobile accident, was named the game's Most Valuable Player.

These two victories in themselves would have been enough to insure Coach Jennings of a successful rookie year, but the Puma spirit was not satisfied with what it had. Consequently, on November 3, Saint Joseph's College pulled the upset of the Indiana Collegiate Conference by defeating Ball State 7-2. Not only was this first conference loss for the powerful Staters since 1964, but, to add insult to injury, they were defeated on their own field. Again the defense led by Safety Paul Kiffner was superb as they held Ball State, second leading team in the nation in rushing to a scant 235 yards. Once again Fred Bucina and Karl Maio were offensive standouts.

With only Illinois Wesleyan remaining to be played, it looks as if Coach Bill Jennings will become the most successful rookie coach in the history of Saint Joseph's College football.

Saint Joseph's TIME Ad Wins Another

An American Cyanamid Alumni Service Award for 1966-67 was presented to Saint Joseph's College, the Alumni Association and Thomas DeMint July 2 during the national convention of the American Alumni Council.

The annual convention was held July 1-7 and the awards dinner was given at the San Francisco Hilton Hotel. Accepting the honor on behalf of Saint Joseph's was Jerry Gladu, Associate Director of Development.

The award was given in connection with Saint Joseph's November advertisement in Time magazine. DeMint is credited with the creation of the advertisement.

"Many people asked me about our ad," Jerry stated. "All knew about it but many wanted the inside details surrounding its creation, placement and results. Other inquiries concerned the television message we prepared concerning the Time ad, and a surprising number of questions had to do with our senior class gift program, its implications and success."

Jerry says that the convention panelists agreed throughout the seven-day session that a crisis is facing private higher education. In weathering the current crisis that is ground in limited financial resources and ever-increasing demands upon higher education, Jerry says convention speakers frequently stressed the importance of new and creative ideas and programs. "Many times it was said that those schools that innovate are those that will survive the crisis and emerge stronger than before."

"Having people congratulate you and ask about your program is quite pleasing and satisfying—more important though is that Saint Joseph's is being recognized as an innovator and in the search for the wherewithal to continue the endeavors of American private higher education."
